The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-4, 6-11 and 13-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US Patent 6,114,552 cited by applicants. Applicants recite the same process recited in claim 1 for preparing an epoxidation catalyst. The temperature range in the patent for drying the silica gel carrier includes the instant range. Note the calcinations, hydrolysis and silylation steps are taught at col. 4 to col. 6.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Han et al, US Patent 6,114,552 cited by applicants. It discloses the instant process for the production of a Si-Ti containing epoxidation catalyst. At the top of col. 4 it states that "it is highly desirable to dry the inorganic siliceous solid prior to impregnation. Drying may be accomplished, for example by heating the inorganic siliceous solid for several hours at a temperature of 100 to 700 degrees C, preferably at least 200 degrees C. The calcinations and silylation steps of claims 7 and 8 are taught at col. 4 and 5 of the reference. Thus it would have been obvious to select a part of the compact range of temperatures recited in the reference.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The definition of "weight average particle size" is not clear.
